Astley Gardens, Hilton

Sam says:

"Astley Gardens is a small new development in Hilton and the home benefits from a south west facing garden. The property is well presented throughout and i love the spacious, welcoming hallway. The kitchen diner is a great space and has all the integrated appliances! The garden is not overlooked and is so quiet having a footpath behind leading one way to the nature reserve and the other way, into the village! There are three good sized bedrooms, the master having a fantastic sized en-suite. This home would really suit a small family!"

A message from the seller:

"It is sad to leave a home after only a couple of years, however it was only ever a short-term option as we wish to downsize to a bungalow now the last of our children have left home. I have been very impressed by the build as I was always a little sceptical about purchasing a new house, however the defects were minor, minimal and were all sorted very quickly. Note that 8 Years of the guarantee is still valid. Since we have been here we have made many friends on the estate and immediate neighbours are very easy to get on with. We have our own WhatsApp group and everyone looks out for each other. The area is so quiet it's hard to believe at times you live on an estate, infrequent dog walkers going past the house are all you ever see. Some people may be put off by the units behind the house but I can honestly say there is no noise day or night (obviously they are regulated in residential areas). The house is south facing and gets warm throughout during the Summer, it is very efficient and means minimal heating bills. Overall we have enjoyed our time here thoroughly."
