Guide Price: £425,000

Ideally positioned just a short walk from the High Street, this charming four-bedroom terraced home enjoys a convenient location within easy access to local shops, schools and all the amenities of the town centre. Believed to date back to the Victorian era, the property boasts a handsome façade and offers period features including decorative fireplaces and picture rails.

Having a fascinating and interesting past, this property is thought to have previously served as both a shop and coal merchant's premises before becoming this welcoming family home as it is today. Retaining a variety of characterful elements that reflect its history. Tastefully updated, the property blends original features with contemporary fittings and stylish décor, creating a spacious and comfortable atmosphere with good ceiling heights. Arranged over three floors, the layout offers versatile living accommodation, ideal for families seeking flexible space—whether for additional bedrooms or adaptable living areas.

Outside, a private courtyard garden at the rear provides a perfect setting for seating or could be used to park a car.
